Select English welcomes Italian Masters students

Select English is pleased to have a group of 20 Masters students from the south of Italy at the school. Their course involves 550 hours of English lessons, with a Cambridge exam, plus 300 hours of work experience. They are accommodated in host families. They feel that not only has it given them the opportunity to improve their language, but also the chance to experience the English culture and our habits! The speed of their learning has been accelerated by being forced to speak English every day, both in class and in their host families.

The group's top tips for learning English:

- Read a lot
- Stay with English people
- Attend social activities
- Keep speaking English

New Hall of Residence!

Select English is pleased to offer accommodation in a fifth hall of residence; Icen House, on Coleridge Road, which is just 20 minutes' walk from the school at Station Road. It has space for 8 students, supervised by one of our long-serving wardens; Lorraine O'Brien. Residential accommodation during July is now almost booked up, but there are spaces still available between 12 - 25 August.

Estefania Led Ramos

Estefania is from Spain and has been studying at Select English since October.

Why did you choose Select English?

I found Select English when searching the internet and chose the school because of the different timetable options, exams and value for money. Now that I'm here I like that every Friday I have a test and a regular meeting with my tutor to check my progress.

What do you like about being in Cambridge?

If it's the first time you're abroad it's a nice city and it's easy to find your way around. At the same time it's very multicultural, with many cultural activities on offer.

What is your top tip for learning English?

Live in a host family, don't speak your mother tongue and try to meet new people in the school and in the city.

Students at Select English can play in the Cambridge University Football League.
